DEATH BLOW GIVEN TO INSURRECTION SOON

MANY DESERTIONS RECORDED AMONG REBEL TROOPS

FEDERAL VICTORIES ANNOUNCED IN THE STATE OF COAHUILA

BELIEVED TO MARK BEGINNING OF COLLAPSE OF REVOLT

(By United Press)

The Mexican federal government prepared today to strike what it believed would be a death blow to the insurrection which broke out in two sections of the republic eleven days ago.

The capital expressed confidence that the desertion of rebel troops and federal victories in the state of Coahuila marked the beginning of the collapse of the revolt.

Plutarco Elias Calles took advantage of the federal victory at Saltillo to urge his advance troops ahead in pursuit of rebels retreating to Torreon and to push the federal column steadily toward the city of Durango. Torreon and Durango are the objectives of two federal columns operating along the railroad line from Canitas.

The government announced that 1,600 rebels had deserted in the state of Sonora, of whom approximately 1,200 surrendered at Naco. With federals in command of Naco the insurgent forces in the far west may be cut off from the rebel stronghold of Torreon.

Border reports said rebels were preparing an attack to recapture Naco and were rushing large reinforcements to Torreon to support General Escobar's troops there.

The situation at Mazatlan, west coast city in the state of Sinaloa, was uncertain. The government claimed that the rebels had started retreating from Sinaloa due to desertions, but border reports said rebel leaders were anticipating a battle shortly for possession of the port, which is held by federals.

Nogales, Ariz., March 13.—Rebel leaders moved swiftly today to recapture Naco, Mexico, border town seized by General Augustin Olachea, who turned traitor to the revolutionary cause and proclaimed Naco a federal stronghold.

General Francisco Manzo, second in command of the rebel armies, mobilized a column of troops at Del Rio, preparatory to move on Naco.

Meanwhile, a battle was reported imminent at Mazatlan, on the west coast of the state of Sinaloa, as two columns of rebels drew nearer to their objective.

Mexico City, March 13.—The military rebellion in Mexico was on the verge of collapse today as federal troops closely pursued insurgents fleeing from the city of Saltillo towards the rebel center of Torreon in Coahuila state, the presidential announced.

The fall of Saltillo, the desertion of a total of 1,600 rebel troops in the state of Sonora and the advance of federal columns on Torreon and Durango City were announced in rapid order by the government in support of President Portes Gil's declaration that the rebellion had failed.

"We are absolutely certain we have solved the situation satisfactorily," said the president's statement. "New enlistments are not necessary. The people and army are in support of our institutions."

The military situation shifted with great rapidity, in contrast to several days of slow progress.

Rebels evacuated the city of Saltillo, important rebel outpost in Coahuila state, before the advance of federal columns under Gen. Juan Almazan and Gen. Eulogio Ortiz. Government aviators bombed a troop train carrying rebels from Saltillo towards Torreon, where Gen. J. Gonzalo Escobar was entrenched with some 2,000 insurgents.

A federal column under General Saturnino Cedillo was pursuing and attempting to cut off the retreat of Torreon.

The government announced that 1,200 more out of 5,000 rebel troops in the state of Sonora—most powerful of the rebel states—had surrendered and joined the federal forces. The desertions will mean an early end to the revolt on the west coast, the announcement predicted.

All rebel forces surrendered at

REVOLUTIONARY CHANGES IN WEARING APPAREL

London, March 13.—(U.P.)—London's well-dressed young men were preparing for revolutionary changes in evening wear today because the Prince of Wales appeared at the finals of the boxing championship of the London Federation of Boys' clubs last night dressed in a grey silk pull-over, a tuxedo, soft shirt and cuffs and a soft polo collar with a black bow tie.

It was recalled that the prince frequently has complained of the discomfort of ceremonial and evening dress.

GIRL BOASTS OF HER LIQUOR RUNNING DEEDS

JACQUELINE MORET, 24, ARRESTED AT CANON CITY, COLO.

STARTS TERM IN THE COLORADO STATE PRISON FOR HOLDUP IN CASPER

Canon City, Colo., March 13.—(U.P.)—Puffing a cigar and fearing she would have to don a skirt for the first time in her life, Jacqueline Moret, 24, pretty and tough, started a term in the Colorado state prison here today for a holdup in Casper, Wyo.

"Maybe they'll have a few big rocks left which can be made into little ones," she said, blowing a couple of smoke rings and spitting with the accuracy of an Ozarker.

"Do you reckon they'll make me wear a skirt?" she asked Sheriff G. O. Housley of Casper who brought her here because Wyoming has no penitentiary quarters for women.

To the world in general and to the sheriff in particular, Miss Moret boasted of running liquor across the Canadian border, dealing blackjack at Tia Juana, tending bar in San Francisco, working as a stoker on a trip to Alaska and harvesting wheat.

"None of 'em ever found out I was a woman."

Asked if she numbered any of the domestic arts in her array of talents, she answered:

"Naw," and took a hitch at her trousers.

"And you don't crochet?" a cynical reporter commented.

"What in the hell is that?"

Then came the warden with the sad news that women wear skirts in his prison.

WINONA BOY IS PINNED TO EARTH BY 150 POUND ICICLE

Winona, Minn., March 13.—(U.P.)—Pinned to the earth by a 150-pound icicle which fell from the roof of his home, Warren Pickert, 7, lay seriously injured in a hospital here today. Warren's left arm and leg were fractured by the sharp spear of ice which fell just as the boy started for school.

Naco, Sonora border. With Naco in federal hands it was expected the loyalists would be able to divide the rebel forces of Gov. Fausto Topete and Gen. Escobar, insurgent leaders. Topete is at Agua Prieta and Escobar at Torreon, the next federal objective.

Plutarco Elias Calles, minister of war in active charge of the offensive, established new headquarters at Rio Grande, state of Zacatecas, as his advance troops proceeded rapidly on the city of Durango. Rebels, retreating to Durango, delayed the federal advance considerably by destruction of railroad tracks.

The presidential announced that Gen. Simon Aguirre, who surrendered in Vera Cruz state yesterday, was executed last night at Santa Lucracia, Vera Cruz. His brother, Gen. Jesus M. Aguirre, chief of the Vera Cruz rebels, was still at liberty.

"The revolution is ended except for combatting some small armed groups," one source said, asserting that virtually all of the rebel troops had been deceived by their leaders. Lack of unity or common purpose also is responsible for the collapse, it was said.

Tariff Barrier Against Canada May Affect Consummation of St. Lawrence Waterway Plan

GENTLE HINTS RECEIVED FROM CANADIAN NATION

MIDDLE WEST HAS HEART SET ON THE DEEP WATER- WAY

THE NEW ASPECT OF AFFAIRS AROUSING CONCERN OF AD- MINISTRATION

Washington, March 13.—(U.P.)—Canadian officials have gently intimated to Washington that there is a possibility that the consummation of the St. Lawrence waterway project might be blocked if congress materially increases the tariff barrier against Canada in the forthcoming special session.

Canadian officials probably would not admit any connection whatever exists between the tariff and the waterway. But the administration is aware of strong Canadian opposition to increases. It has been suggested Premier Mackenzie King of Canada "might not be able to carry public opinion with him in favor of the waterway if the American tariff wall is increased."

The waterway aspect of the general tariff situation appears likely to arouse administration concern because the middle west and especially the upper Mississippi valley is believed to have its heart set upon a deep sea waterway via the St. Lawrence.

ASK DEATH PENALTY FOR BOOTLEGGER

STATE CHARGES PEORIA LIQUOR DEALER'S POTIONS CAUSED 17 DEATHS

MURDER CHARGES ALSO MADE AGAINST 7 SELLERS, IN- CLUDING 2 WOMEN

Peoria, Ill., March 13.—(U.P.)—The death penalty will be asked for the wholesale bootlegger, who the state charges, distributed poison liquor which resulted in 17 deaths in this vicinity, State's Attorney H. E. Pratt said today.

Pratt's announcement was made after a special grand jury had returned indictments charging murder against seven bootleggers, including two women.

Morris Mansfield, Pratt contends, is the man who distributed the poison liquor. Others named by the indictments were Mansfield's wife, Clement O. Gussin and wife, who sold liquor at their home; Louis Selt, proprietor of the Stock Yards hotel, Walter Neibert, his bartender, and Herman W. Wohlferth.

The latest theory in the investigation of the deaths, Pratt indicated, was that industrial alcohol, used in the commercial solvents plant here in making lacquers, etc., had been smuggled out in a dinner pail to Mansfield by a workman.

Mansfield was accused of trying a "new process" in converting the alcohol into liquor, with the resultant deaths.

ELECTED MAYOR WHEN HE WASN'T RUNNING FOR OFFICE

Dayton, Minn., March 13.—(U.P.)—The fellow who won the "home-liest face" contest at a party and then said, "Oh, I wasn't even playing," has nothing on Vernon Blais. In the municipal elections Tuesday Blais was elected mayor although he had not run for office. Thirteen voters wrote his name in on their ballots and he was drafted to the office.

Daytona Racer Killed

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 13.

(U.P.)—Lee Bible, race car driver, crashed to his death and a news photographer was killed when J. M. White's Triplex with which Bible was seeking to bring back to America the world's speed record, crashed on Daytona Beach today.

Bible was qualified by the American Automobile Association committee in charge of the trials earlier in the day, although he was not a registered member.

Major H. O. D. Segrave, British record holder, announced before Bible started his run that beach conditions were so excellent he would try to break his own record today.

The crash took place after Bible had negotiated the southward stretch of beach at 183.12 miles an hour, some 50 miles short of the maximum speed made by Maj. H. O. D. Segrave Monday.

Bible was moving at nearly 200 miles an hour when the crash occurred.

The photographer, R. M. Trevre, and a companion were standing on a sand-dune, just off the straight-away when the car hurtled toward them. The cameraman was killed and his body was badly mangled. The other leaped safely out of the way.

The car, a monster machine, with three motors en bloc, weighing three tons, was completely wrecked and Bible pinned in the mass. He was pulled from the wreckage as the car burst into flames. He was crumpled—dead.

The crash was the second in a year to bring death to a pilot.

Frank Lockhart, young driver, was killed last year while trying to break the record.

WOMAN AND TWO CHILDREN KILLED BY EXPLOSIONS

TEN OTHER PEOPLE, MOSTLY CHILDREN, AMONG INJURED AT ST. JOSEPH, MO.

2 UNEXPLAINED BLASTS WRECK 2 GROCERY-APARTMENT BUILDINGS

St. Joseph, Mo., March 13.—(U.P.)—An elderly woman and two children were killed and ten others, mostly children, were injured here today when two unexplained explosions wrecked two grocery-apartment buildings.

The dead were Mrs. Mary Lew, 65; Charles Nolan, 10, and Dorothy Gloggnier, 9.

The initial blast wrecked the grocery-apartment structure and as a crowd gathered, a second detonation wrecked the residence.

The injured are Timney, 24; Mrs. Gloggnier; J. A. Gloggnier; Tom Nolan, 45; Mrs. Mary Nolan, 38; Catherine Nolan, 11; Marie Nolan, 16; Helen Nolan, 5; John P. Nolan, 2; R. G. Dickinson, age unknown.

Police were seeking two men who witnesses said left the scene of the explosion soon after it occurred. They could give no motive for the blasts.

The first store destroyed was one of the Beaty chain and managed by J. A. Gloggnier, who was injured. Gloggnier's daughter, Dorothy, was one of those killed.

As crowds gathered about the wrecked building, a second explosion two blocks down the street occurred. The same two men seen at the first blast were believed to have thrown a bomb into the second store.

This one was owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Lawness, a pioneer here. Mrs. Lew and Charles Nolan died in the second blast.

ITALIAN CRUISER IN WORLD RECORD SPEED OF 38 KNOTS

Spezia, Italy, March 13.—(U.P.)—The battle cruiser Trento, which was completed recently at the Orlando shipyards, attained a world record speed of 38 knots in tests today.

GOOD TAKES NEW OFFICE

James W. Good, new Secretary of War, is seen being sworn in by Chief Clerk John B. Randolph. Secretary Good lives in Evanston, Ill., and is prominent in Chicago Equal circles as well as in national circles.

POWERFUL TIME BOMB EXPLODED IN DOORWAY OR HOME

Chicago, March 13.—(U.P.)—A powerful time bomb was exploded early today in the doorway of the home of John C. Schank, president of the Chicago Business Men's Racing club. The explosion rocked the exclusive South Shore section and shattered windows in a radius of several blocks. Damage to the Schank home was estimated at several thousand dollars. Schank said the bomb may have been placed by disgruntled patrons of Hawthorne race track.

CONSIDERING DAWES FOR HIGH DIPLOMATIC POST

AMBASSADORSHIP TO GREAT BRITAIN FOR FORMER VICE PRESIDENT

DAWES, NOW IN CHICAGO, SAID TO BE IN RECEPTIVE FRAME OF MIND

By PAUL R. MALLON

Washington, March 13.—Former Vice President Charles G. Dawes, the man who condemned with epithets such as "hell and Maria," war-time diplomatic representatives of the United States, is being considered for the highest diplomatic post, the ambassadorship to Great Britain, according to reports in well informed quarters here.

Dawes called the American diplomats in Paris "pink tea diplomats" and told a house investigating committee he had more trouble with them than with any other persons with whom he dealt in his war office as head of the commissary department of the American expeditionary forces.

According to authentic report, President Hoover is contemplating appointment of Dawes to the London post and Dawes, now in Chicago, is said to have indicated he would accept. The report has caused interesting speculation in diplomatic quarters here where the appointment would be interpreted as an effort to reform the whole American diplomatic corps.

Recently there has been much discussion between Great Britain and the United States which has done nothing to promote good feeling between the nations. Most of the difficulties settled around the American and British naval situations.

Dawes is an extreme departure from the type frequently selected as American diplomats. He is regarded as out-spoken in domestic problems to a degree not relished by some American politicians.

His financial experience and his knowledge of European problems would, however, go to make him an ideal appointee.

NOBILE RESIGNS RANK AND OFFICE

HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR DIRIG- IBLE ITALIA NORTH POLE DISASTER

Rome, March 13.—(U.P.)—Gen. Umberto Nobile, leader of the dirigible Italia expedition to the north pole last summer, has resigned his rank and office and the resignation has been accepted, it was officially announced here today.

The report of an official investigation commission last week held Nobile responsible for the disaster, in which the dirigible was wrecked while returning from the north pole and seven members of the crew were lost.

Nobile's resignation was the result of one of the most tragic Arctic dramas in the history of north pole exploration. After a successful flight to the pole, the dirigible Italia crashed while returning to Spitzbergen, hurling the commander and 13 of his men to the barren ice area.

Criticism of Nobile's conduct in permitting himself to be rescued by air plane from the ice floe before his men were saved was climaxed eight days ago by the report of Premier Benito Mussolini's commission which placed full blame on the commander.

HOOVER PLAN AWAITS ACTION OF NEW CONGRESS

PRESIDENT DISCUSSES PLANS WITH LEADERS OF SENATE AND HOUSE

JUSTICE DEPARTMENT CONFIRMS HIS VIEW OF NECESSITY OF SPECIAL ACT

Washington, March 13.—(U.P.)—President Hoover's plan to transfer prohibition enforcement activities from the treasury to the department of justice must await the assembly of the regular session of the new congress in December.

In discussing his legislative program with congressional leaders preparatory to his proclamation calling the special session for next month, President Hoover indicated all measures for reorganizing the administrative department of the government would be held in advance for the regular winter session.

The department of justice has confirmed the president's view that a special act of congress is necessary to authorize the transfer of the prohibition unit from the treasury.

Dry leaders who sought to authorize the transfer in the special session have received little encouragement from congressional leaders.

STATE INCOME TAX IS CONSIDERED

STATE LEADERS DECLARE IT WILL PLACE BURDEN ON AGRICULTURE

St. Paul, March 13.—(U.P.)—The proposed state income tax now under consideration by the Minnesota senate would place an unjust burden on agriculture, business and industry and might lead to absolute confiscation of real estate, a score of state leaders declared here in a public hearing on the bill before a senate committee.

Farmers, manufacturers, business men and real estate dealers who appeared before the senate tax law committee over which Senator Gen. F. Sullivan, Stillwater, presided, pointed out that a similar law had been passed in Wisconsin and had proven "a burden to farmers and others."

FEDERAL INCOME TAX RETURNS MUST BE FILED SOON

Washington, March 13.—(U.P.)—Federal income tax returns must be filed by midnight, Friday, March 15. Facts about filing a federal income tax return are summarized by the internal revenue bureau as follows:

Who? Single persons who have net income of $1,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more and married couples who have net income of $3,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns.

14 YEAR OLD GIRL CHARGED WITH BREAKING DRY LAW

Minneapolis, March 13.—(U.P.)—A 14-year-old Robbinsdale girl, whom federal prohibition agents said sold them a bottle of moonshine, will be arraigned Thursday in United States district court on a liquor charge, it was revealed here. The girl is now at liberty under $1,500 bonds. Her father also is under arrest.

His financial experience and his knowledge of European problems would, however, go to make him an ideal appointee.

NOBILE RESIGNS RANK AND OFFICE

HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR DIRIGIBLE ITALIA NORTH POLE DISASTER

Rome, March 13.—(U.P.)—Gen. Umberto Nobile, leader of the dirigible Italia expedition to the north pole last summer, has resigned his rank and office and the resignation has been accepted, it was officially announced here today.

The report of an official investigation commission last week held Nobile responsible for the disaster, in which the dirigible was wrecked while returning from the north pole and seven members of the crew were lost.

Nobile's resignation was the result of one of the most tragic Arctic dramas in the history of north pole exploration. After a successful flight to the pole, the dirigible Italia crashed while returning to Spitzbergen, hurling the commander and 13 of his men to the barren ice area.

Criticism of Nobile's conduct in permitting himself to be rescued by air plane from the ice floe before his men were saved was climaxed eight days ago by the report of Premier Benito Mussolini's commission which placed full blame on the commander.

PRESIDENT DISCUSSES PLANS WITH LEADERS OF SENATE AND HOUSE

JUSTICE DEPARTMENT CONFIRMS HIS VIEW OF NECESSITY OF SPECIAL ACT

Washington, March 13.—(U.P.)—President Hoover's plan to transfer prohibition enforcement activities from the treasury to the department of justice must await the assembly of the regular session of the new congress in December.

In discussing his legislative program with congressional leaders preparatory to his proclamation calling the special session for next month, President Hoover indicated all measures for reorganizing the administrative department of the government would be held in advance for the regular winter session.

The department of justice has confirmed the president's view that a special act of congress is necessary to authorize the transfer of the prohibition unit from the treasury.

Dry leaders who sought to authorize the transfer in the special session have received little encouragement from congressional leaders.

STATE INCOME TAX IS CONSIDERED

STATE LEADERS DECLARE IT WILL PLACE BURDEN ON AGRICULTURE

St. Paul, March 13.—(U.P.)—The proposed state income tax now under consideration by the Minnesota senate would place an unjust burden on agriculture, business and industry and might lead to absolute confiscation of real estate, a score of state leaders declared here in a public hearing on the bill before a senate committee.

Farmers, manufacturers, business men and real estate dealers who appeared before the senate tax law committee over which Senator Geo. F. Sullivan, Stillwater, presided, pointed out that a similar law had been passed in Wisconsin and had proven a burden to farmers and others.

FEDERAL INCOME TAX RETURNS MUST BE FILED SOON

Washington, March 13.—(U.P.)—Federal income tax returns must be filed by midnight, Friday, March 15. Facts about filing a federal income tax return are summarized by the internal revenue bureau as follows:

Who? Single persons who have net income of $1,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more and married couples who have net income of $3,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns.

When? The filing period ends March 15, 1929.

Where? Collector of internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

How? Instructions on forms 104A and 1040.

What? One and one-half per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemption and credits. Three per cent on the next $4,000. Five per cent on the balance of net income. Surplus on net income in excess of $10,000.

14 YEAR OLD GIRL CHARGED WITH BREAKING DRY LAW

Minneapolis, March 13.—(U.P.)—A 14-year-old Robbinsdale girl, whom federal prohibition agents said sold them a bottle of moonshine, will be arraigned Thursday in United States district court on a liquor charge, it was revealed here. The girl is now at liberty under $1,500 bonds. Her father also is under arrest.

The writer of the following poem stated to the Dispatch that always had she wanted to go north deer hunting, but not until last fall did she have the chance. "The beauties of nature have a thrill no tongue can describe," she stated. It was on this trip the following verses were inspired:

Up Where The Spruce and Balsam Grow

In thought I picture tonight,
A lake of shimmering white,
And the moon a ball of golden glow.

A cabin standing near the shore,
And fire-place just back the door.
Up where the spruce and balsam grow.

To a place some miles away,
You take your stand upon a mound,
And your tread is soft and slow.

There's a winding well trod path,
Where you know the deer will pass,
Up where the spruce and balsam grow.

With ears alert to every sound,
You take your stand upon a mound,
Along with comrades that you know.

A rifle shot that sure to bring
Down, the pride of herd and king
Up where the spruce and balsam grow.

Through life, time cannot efface,
The memory of that deer place,
And the friends we learn to know.

With a heart that yearning,
Some day I'll be returning

"Every boy has a desire to be good," said S. C. Bakken, field representative in a talk before the Lowell P. T. A. last evening. "This is a desire which can be easily broken, but with the proper encouragement and assistance from his parents and older associates, the desire for good can be made stronger in the boy's mind, he said. In his talk, Mr. Bakken brought out that the duties of the Scout Master and all Scouts is to assist the parents in building character in their children. Character is something that must be lived. If the boy lives up to his Scout oath and ideals, the foundation for character is being built. In explaining the purpose of Scout badges he said they were to instill a desire to work and build something that will stay with the boys throughout their lives. He also brought out that scouting is not a military organization and to illustrate his point, told of the recent international jamboree of the Boy Scouts of the world held in England, at which practically every nation in the world was represented. The boys from all quarters were intermingled in camps which created a good effect for international peace for the future generations.

Instances were also quoted where boys in our immediate vicinity had saved the lives of a deer hunter and a bath by making use of the first aid methods which they are taught as part of their training.

Other numbers on the program were saw solos by Charles Miller, piano solos by Rudolph Dreiling, recitations by Earl Oberg, talk by Senior Patrol Leader Arden Miller of Troop No. 3. A lunch was served after the program during which time parents and teachers discussed the progress being made by their children in their school work. About 125 were present.

MUSIC HEADLINES WHITTIER PROGRAM

Miss Hope Thabes Arranges Unusually Artistic Program for Benefit Last Night

Miss Hope Thabes afforded Whittier P. T. A. members a treat, in the unusually fine program she had arranged for their benefit Tuesday evening.

It was one well calculated to remind parents of all they owe to the efforts of their children's teachers. The program opened with three numbers sung by the high school girls octette, looking most attractive in their new white linen uniforms, with jaunty little blue capes and displaying the high school letters. The Octette is composed of the Misses Ellen Berglund, Katherine Sheels, Dorothy Schrader, Edith Frost, Almira Christianson, Clara Grimstead, Hattie Zawadzky and Virginia Rowland. Miss Marjorie Forsberg gave two musical readings, with Miss Rickard at the piano.

Miss Thabes' seventh grade pupils sang a group of songs, carrying three parts and unaccompanied, in the good form for which they are becoming quite famed. Then young Howard Gile, one of the graduating class of '29, delighted his hearers, young and old, with a solo well calculated to display his skill in handling the slide trombone. He and his sister, young Mrs. Boeder, who ably accompanied him, graciously responded to an urgent encore.

In introducing the last artist, Miss Cora Rickard, attention was called to the fact that all of the preceding ones had benefited by her labors as supervisor of music in our city schools. Miss Rickard's rich and well cultivated voice was in pleasing contrast to the fresh and unsophisticated voices of her pupils. The beauty of her numbers was enhanced by Miss Loraine Morrison's fine accompaniments.

Miss Louise Barrett's literature quiz was given in lighter vein, but was calculated to remind parents of their responsibility in helping to fix in childish memories the gems of English literature taught at school during the impressionable years.

In introducing the last artist, Miss Cora Rickard, attention was called to the fact that all of the preceding ones had benefited by her labors as supervisor of music in our city schools. Miss Rickard's rich and well cultivated voice was in pleasing contrast to the fresh and unsophisticated voices of her pupils. The beauty of her numbers was enhanced by Miss Loraine Morrison's fine accompaniments.

Miss Louise Barrett's literature quiz was given in lighter vein, but was calculated to remind parents of their responsibility in helping to fix in childish memories the gems of English literature taught at school during the impressionable years.

Representative Buckman has been informed that the legal officers of the war department have decided that the provisions of the bill for the construction of a dam across the Mississippi between Wright and Sherburne counties gives the department ample authority to protect navigation. This removes the objection of the lumber companies and the president has promised to sign the bill.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO From the Daily Dispatch

March 13, 1904

Representative Buckman has been informed that the legal officers of the war department have decided that the provisions of the bill for the construction of a dam across the Mississippi between Wright and Sherburne counties gives the department ample authority to protect navigation. This removes the objection of the lumber companies and the president has promised to sign the bill.

S. Walker is having rock hauled to the site of his block on Laurel street. In the spring he expects to put a new foundation under the Wal. ker block and make other extensive improvements.

Mrs. Clark Alexander will leave for the coast in the near future and will make her home in Oregon, her husband having preceded her several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McCarthy left today for Minneapolis where they will visit for a few days.

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN

THE senate highway committee has acted wisely in making favorable recommendation on the proposal that a state highway patrol of seventy-five men be employed. It is a proposal which should be acted upon favorably by both houses of the legislature. It will probably meet with the opposition of the labor element, particularly in the house, which sees in the bill a move toward eventual establishment of a state constabulary, says the Mankato Free Press.

Very largely, however, the duties of highway patrolmen will be in the nature of service to the public rather than of enforcement of the law. While they will naturally serve as a check on fast and reckless driving, will reduce violations of license regulations and will serve as a valuable aid in running down criminals, who use the highways in making their getaway, their greatest service would be in directing and assisting the great army of motorists, who pass over the highways of the state in the course of a summer season.

Visitors in the state are in need of such assistance, and as the volume of tourist traffic becomes greater each year, this need becomes more pronounced. Motorists who suffer breakdowns, who are victims in accidents, who are uncertain of their route, all those who need service in a hundred different matters, would find a valuable friend and servant in the highway patrolman.

The employment of such a force is just as much a part of efficiently maintaining the highway system as is work on the surfacing and improving of trunk routes. It is hoped the legislature will view it as such.

FEW OF US REALLY LIVE

L. A. R. WYLIE in Harper's Magazine: Anyone can see that we don't know how to live. And considering the time allowed us to find out, we can hardly be blamed for giving the problem up as hopeless and ourselves to a wild dervish dance of futilities. Taking threescore years and ten as a very handsome average, we have to subtract, as things go, twenty years of preparation for this world and ten of preparation for the next.

Of the forty years left to us to investigate our bewildering surroundings, our amazing fellow creatures, and our still more amazing selves, at least thirty are given over to what we call, oddly enough, "making a living." It is true that we do what we can, in our spare time, to live. But naturally it is not a success.

We make ourselves vague promises regarding the day when we shall really start in seriously. But as a matter of fact the day never comes. Or if it does come, it comes too late. The world is too vast a proposition to be looked over in a few moments or even years. It is a life's study, at least, and we haven't got even half a life to give to it.

We are driving, therefore, to ignore it altogether and to whirl round earnestly in our own little individual orbit until such time as death throws in the inevitable monkey wrench. As a further consequence, the majority of us enter the grave very much as we left our mother's womb, without the faintest notion of what it has all been about.

And our description of our late residence, if anybody on the other side asked us for it, would be as misleading and prejudiced and unfair as our description of our friends of the foreign countries we had visited in our earthly vacations.

THE REGIONAL TOURNAMENT

UNUSUALLY close games marked the regional tournament at Alexandria, where but a few points separated the teams.

St. Cloud defeated Dawson 22 to 19. Crosby-Ironton won over Glenwood 22 to 21. Glenwood was victor over Dawson by the score of 19 to 18. St. Cloud defeated Crosby-Ironton 25 to 20.

At the close of the tournament the all-regional quint was announced as follows:

Forward, Gene Rengel, St. Cloud.
Forward, Glenn Hanson, Dawson.
Center, Clifford Hanson, Glenwood.
Guard, Mike Chupich, Crosby-Ironton.
Guard, Kenneth LeDuc, Glenwood.

No sportsmanship trophy was awarded, but if any were to be given, it is said it would have been one to be divided between St. Cloud and Dawson. The regional gate receipts this year were in excess of $1,000.

With Brainerd's new high school soon to be completed, it is hoped this city will gain the district tournament and that a new regional will be mapped out doing away with such lengthy trips as Brainerd or Crosby-Ironton are compelled to take when playing at Alexandria.

NO 3-MAN COMMISSION

WE do not believe in the efficacy of a 3-man commission to take over the conduct of highway matters. The three would not be able to devote their whole time to it unless they were paid, and the salaries would present an obstacle to any economy movement. Serving without pay, the three would undoubtedly hire a fourth man to do the work and you would be back to the 1-man system.

One of these fine days, says the Baudette Region, and Billy Noonan knows what he is writing about, Commissioner Babcock is likely to get tired of the crabbing aimed at the highway department and step out to take a job in some other state. And if he does Minnesota will have to dig down in its jeans for about five times the salary it pays him if it hopes to get a man who can come anywhere near filling his shoes.

The other day a man told us about the wonderful roads in Norway and of how the gravel roads were serviceable, but he forgot that some of our northern lake gravel roads carry more traffic than in all the Scandinavian countries put together. In comparing roadways be sure to include in your comparisons the amount and kind of traffic carried.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

FOR twenty years Irene Holden is a model wife for handsome Guinn Holden, Texas minister. Ever in love with him herself, Irene hopes to win his heart from the "gold and white ghost" of the beautiful dead Lilith, his first wife. Only the second Lilith, born at her mother's death, has full control of his affections. Tina, Lundy, Ross and Patricia, Irene's children by Holden, are always secondary. Tina, conscious of her foster sister's beauty and power, bears silently the humiliation of wearing her old clothes and using her old books in college. Lilith becomes engaged to Roger Devereux, son of wealthy Texas parents, but postpones her marriage to spend a year in New York with some money left her father. There she meets Vivian Winthrop, wealthy society girl, who introduces her to Bill Chester, scion of millions. Bill's fiancée, Sally Burton, is in Paris. When Lilith wishes to spend the summer alone in New York Irene objects, but her father, as usual, lets her have her way. Bill, madly in love with the blonde beauty of Lilith, asks her to break her engagement to Roger. He writes Sally breaking his own. Then a cable from his grandfather commands him to meet the old man abroad and interrupts the ecstatic courtship with Lilith. Overcome by the power of love and the thought of separation, Lilith gives herself up to Bill. For two days they are together before he sails. Roger, receiving Lilith's letter, hastens to New York. In Paris, Bill is told by his grandfather that if he marries Lilith he will be left penniless. Bill agrees to marry Sally. Back in Texas Tina asks for a year's leave to study art. Her father wishes her to wait until after the summer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LI.

SHE had never been reconciled to her going away to another married daughter to live, right after she married Guinn. She thought often of how she was growing like her mother. As she passed a mirror sometimes she was startled to think her mother was there facing her.

Dr. Lundy flashed past in his car, and then, seeing the family on the lawn, turned back to stop for a visit. "What have you been doing today—overworking as usual?" he demanded of Irene. "Just entertaining visitors. I think, though, that if Griselda's husband had brought home four missionaries to dinner on washday her calm would have cracked. But martyrdom is very engaging. I have no doubt Griselda had a grand time. There's something sensuous and emotionally satisfying about the delusion that you're imposed on." Her gay laugh rippled out. "A form of hysteria," diagnosed the doctor. "Persecution complex is one of the commonest types of paranoia."

"I know. A kind of exaggerated ego, craving attention by pretending to ask nothing for itself."

"You make out a hard case for me," she said placidly.

"Woman, I know you. I'd hate to have to testify as to your sanity."

"Irene's a compound of the medieval and the ultramodern," said Guinn. "I never know which wife I'm coming home to."

"I may be a harem," she retorted. "But if the modern independent runs away from you on some washday, there won't be any meek medieval spouse left in the kitchen."

Dan's car spun up to the curb at that moment, and he joined the group on the lawn.

"Want to go to the movies?" he invited Tina.

"Oh, yes!" Irene saw how her face lighted up at his coming, and memory told her how the girl's heart beat faster, the spirit soared with joy.

Again, she was both mother and daughter in a mystical duality. She was herself, she was her own mother, she was her own daughter, she was all women in one. She knew all passions, all pain, all bliss. She was shaken with an ecstasy of pity and terror and awe in the face of life.

Then she laughed softly to herself. "Will would say I'm almost pathological."

Tina, going off to the movies in the car with Dan, thought that no one in the world had ever felt as she did. No other girl could possibly have known such secrecy of fellowship, of heartbreaking separation. The naive little egoist fancied that her emotions were original with her, and were perfectly concealed from the world—unaware of how much her eyes, her blushes, her fluttering hands betrayed. Under the clinging white crepe de Chine of her dress her young breasts rose and fell with her quickened breathing, and the pulse in her throat throbbled like that of a prisoned bird.

Soon Roger came, astonishing them with his news that Lilith had thrown him over. Irene was frightened to hear it, though she had all along felt a presentiment that the girl would do just that.

But she must comfort Roger. "Perhaps it's just her coquetry," she said, though her hope was faint.

"No. He shook his head with dull despair in his eyes. "She didn't seem like she always was before."

"How do you mean, Roger? Well? Happy?"

"Quite well. More beautiful than I ever saw her. . . . with a sort of radiance about her. And utterly happy."

"Then she's in love with some one else, Roger. Only love gives a girl that look."

"I don't believe it. She said she wasn't engaged to anyone else. And if she did care for anyone, there isn't a man in the universe damn fool enough not to fall for her. It gets me!" He put his head in his hands and gave a groan.

"I'm so sorry about it. I feel just sick!" she told him.

He lifted his haggard face to stare at her. "Maybe it was coming to me! You know I broke off with Olive Denby when I fell in love with Lilith. I didn't know then how a thing like that could hurt!"

"Yes, it can hurt," she said quietly.

Oh, what did it all mean? Roger was a good catch, that even Lilith should appreciate. Surely she had something else in view, someone else she thought more desirable, or she'd never have thrown Roger over. But worry nibbled at her nerves.

Guinn was vastly pleased at the news, and said so after Roger had gone.

"I never thought he was half good enough for my girl. I'm glad she's broken with him."

"I'm sorry, very sorry," said Irene. "Roger is so good, so honorable—a man any girl might be glad to marry."

"Not my Lilith. She'll do better, you'll see," he exulted.

He felt a trifle ashamed to realize how jealous he had been of that presumptuous young man who thought he could snatch away his Lilith from him. Maybe she'd come home sooner now. He dreamed of clasping her golden head to his breast, of listening to her voice singing in his church, or hearing her gay laughter about the house again. Lilith's pleasure year was a long one to her father.

"It distresses me to think she has ditched Roger," Irene went on. "It seems like a big mistake."

"Oh, don't worry over Lilith. She always lights on her feet. He could afford to be cheerful now that his darling was in a sense restored to him. "You women are never happy unless you are worrying about something."

"You know I'm not a chronic pessimist, Guinn!" she retorted. "Then don't begin to be one now."

He departed with light step to a pastoral call. A pleasurable surprise was a great invigorator. "I think Lilith's a cad!" snapped Rossiter.

"She isn't, either!" sniffed Lundy. "She's the smartest one of our family. Her head's screwed on tight. Just you wait and see."

To Irene's anxious letter of inquiry came a brief note from Lilith. She had found out she didn't love Roger, and so she couldn't marry him. She would rather not discuss the matter.

"Let's consider the incident closed," said Guinn, as he folded the note.

It was so accepted. Irene watched the drama of Tina's love for Dan go on before her eyes. No one else seemed to be aware of it, because so many youngmen and girls drifted in and out of the house that one more or less could not be conspicuous.

The paragonage was like a social center for the youth of the community, with Irene as its head. She had watched and guided many a love affair, but now she only sat still. She couldn't take the responsibility of steering one way or the other. It was like seeing a play of engrossing interest go on before her as the only spectator.

As mad King Ludwig of Bavaria had had operas performed for himself alone. She had the key to her child's heart, and with a sort of clairvoyance she read her emotions, but she couldn't see the end of it. How would it end?

Old Sheba understood, too, for her black face showed a look of jungle curiosity and cunning, mixed with devotion for her favorite, when Dan came to see Tina.

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN

THE senate highway committee has acted wisely in making favorable recommendation on the proposal that a state highway patrol of seventy-five men be employed. It is a proposal which should be acted upon favorably by both houses of the legislature. It will probably meet with the opposition of the labor element, particularly in the house, which sees in the bill a move toward eventual establishment of a state constabulary, says the Mankato Free Press.

Very largely, however, the duties of highway patrolmen will be in the nature of service to the public rather than of enforcement of the law. While they will naturally serve as a check on fast and reckless driving, will reduce violations of license regulations and will serve as a valuable aid in running down criminals, who use the highways in making their getaway, their greatest service would be in directing and assisting the great army of motorists, who pass over the highways of the state in the course of a summer season.

Visitors in the state are in need of such assistance, and as the volume of tourist traffic becomes greater each year, this need becomes more pronounced. Motorists who suffer breakdowns, who are victims in accidents, who are uncertain of their route, all those who need service in a hundred different matters, would find a valuable friend and servant in the highway patrolman.

The employment of such a force is just as much a part of efficiently maintaining the highway system as is work on the surfacing and improving of trunk routes. It is hoped the legislature will view it as such.

FEW OF US REALLY LIVE

L. A. R. WYLIE in Harper's Magazine: Anyone can see that we don't know how to live. And considering the time allowed us to find out, we can hardly be blamed for giving the problem up as hopeless and ourselves to a wild dervish dance of futilities. Taking threescore years and ten as a very handsome average, we have to subtract, as things go, twenty years of preparation for this world and ten of preparation for the next.

Of the forty years left to us to investigate our bewildering surroundings, our amazing fellow creatures, and our still more amazing selves, at least thirty are given over to what we call, oddly enough, "making a living." It is true that we do what we can, in our spare time, to live. But naturally it is not a success.

We make ourselves vague promises regarding the day when we shall really start in seriously. But as a matter of fact the day never comes. Or if it does come, it comes too late. The world is too vast a proposition to be looked over in a few moments or even years. It is a life's study, at least, and we haven't got even half a life to give to it.

We are driving, therefore, to ignore it altogether and to whirl round earnestly in our own little individual orbit until such time as death throws in the inevitable monkey wrench. As a further consequence, the majority of us enter the grave very much as we left our mother's womb, without the faintest notion of what it has all been about.

And our description of our late residence, if anybody on the other side asked us for it, would be as misleading and prejudiced and unfair as our description of our friends of the foreign countries we had visited in our earthly vacations.

THE REGIONAL TOURNAMENT

UNUSUALLY close games marked the regional tournament at Alexandria, where but a few points separated the teams.

St. Cloud defeated Dawson 22 to 19. Crosby-Ironton won over Glenwood 22 to 21. Glenwood was victor over Dawson by the score of 19 to 18. St. Cloud defeated Crosby-Ironton 25 to 20.

At the close of the tournament the all-regional quint was announced as follows:

Forward, Gene Rengel, St. Cloud.
Forward, Glenn Hanson, Dawson.
Center, Clifford Hanson, Glenwood.
Guard, Mike Chupich, Crosby-Ironton.
Guard, Kenneth LeDuc, Glenwood.

No sportsmanship trophy was awarded, but if any were to be given, it is said it would have been one to be divided between St. Cloud and Dawson. The regional gate receipts this year were in excess of $1,000.

With Brainerd's new high school soon to be completed, it is hoped this city will gain the district tournament and that a new regional will be mapped out doing away with such lengthy trips as Brainerd or Crosby-Ironton are compelled to take when playing at Alexandria.

NO 3-MAN COMMISSION

WE do not believe in the efficacy of a 3-man commission to take over the conduct of highway matters. The three would not be able to devote their whole time to it unless they were paid, and the salaries would present an obstacle to any economy movement. Serving without pay, the three would undoubtedly hire a fourth man to do the work and you would be back to the 1-man system.

One of these fine days, says the Baudette Region, and Billy Noonan knows what he is writing about, Commissioner Babcock is likely to get tired of the crabbing aimed at the highway department and step out to take a job in some other state. And if he does Minnesota will have to dig down in its jeans for about five times the salary it pays him if it hopes to get a man who can come anywhere near filling his shoes.

The other day a man told us about the wonderful roads in Norway and of how the gravel roads were serviceable, but he forgot that some of our northern lake gravel roads carry more traffic and that there are more automobiles in some states of America than in all the Scandinavian countries put together. In comparing roadways be sure to include in your comparisons the amount and kind of traffic carried.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

FOR twenty years Irene Holden is a model wife for handsome Guinn Holden, Texas minister. Ever in love with him herself, Irene hopes to win his heart from the "gold and white ghost" of the beautiful dead Lilith, his first wife. Only the second Lilith, born at her mother's death, has full control of his affections. Tina, Lundy, Ross and Patricia, Irene's children by Holden, are always secondary. Tina, conscious of her foster sister's beauty and power, bears silently the humiliation of wearing her old clothes and using her old books in college. Lilith becomes engaged to Roger Devereux, son of wealthy Texas parents, but postpones her marriage to spend a year in New York with some money left her father. There she meets Vivien Winthrop, wealthy society girl, who introduces her to Bill Chester, scion of millions. Bill's fiancée, Sally Burton, is in Paris. When Lilith wishes to spend the summer alone in New York Irene objects, but her father, as usual, lets her have her way. Bill, madly in love with the blonde beauty of Lilith, asks her to break her engagement to Roger. He writes Sally breaking his own. Then a cable from his grandfather commands him to meet the old man abroad and interrupts the ecstatic courtship with Lilith. Overcome by the power of love and the thought of separation, Lilith gives herself up to Bill. For two days they are together before he sails. Roger, receiving Lilith's letter, hastens to New York. In Paris, Bill is told by his grandfather that if he marries Lilith he will be a penniless. Bill agrees to marry Sally. Back in Texas Tina asks her father to let her go to study art. Her father wishes her to wait until after Guinn's return.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER LI.

SHE had never been reconciled to her going away to another married daughter to live, right after she married Guinn. She thought often of how she was growing like her mother. As she passed a mirror sometimes she was startled to think her mother was there facing her.

Dr. Lundy flashed past in his car, and then, seeing the family on the lawn, turned back to stop for a visit.

"What have you been doing today—overworking as usual?" he demanded of Irene.

"Just entertaining visitors. I think, though, that if Griselda's husband had brought home four missionaries to dinner on washday her calm would have cracked. But martyrdom is very engaging. I have no doubt Griselda had a grand time. There's something sensuous and emotionally satisfying about the delusion that you're imposed on." Her gay laugh rippled out. "A form of hysteria," diagnosed the doctor. "Persecution complex is one of the commonest types of paranoia."

"I know. A kind of exaggerated ego, craving attention by pretending to ask nothing for itself?"

"You make out a hard case for me," she said placidly. "Woman, I know you. I'd hate to have to testify as to your sanity."

"Irene's a compound of the medieval and the ultramodern," said Guinn. "I never know which wife I'm coming home to."

"I may be a harem," she retorted. "But if the modern independent runs away from you on some washday, there won't be any meek medieval spouse left in the kitchen."

Dan's car spun up to the curb at that moment, and he joined the group on the lawn.

"Want to go to the movies?" he invited Tina.

"Oh, yes." Irene saw how her face lighted up at his coming, and memory told her how the girl's heart beat faster, the spirit soared with joy. Again she was both mother and daughter in a mystical duality. She was herself, she was her own mother, she was her own daughter.

Oh, what did it all mean? Roger was a good catch, that even Lilith should appreciate.

Surely she had something else in view, someone else she thought more desirable, or she'd never have thrown Roger over. But worry nibbled at her nerves.

Guinn was vastly pleased at the news, and said so after Roger had gone.

"I never thought he was half good enough for my girl. I'm glad she's broken with him."

"I'm sorry, very sorry," said Irene. "Roger is so good, so honorable—a man any girl might be glad to marry."

"Not my Lilith. She'll do better, you'll see," he exulted.

He felt a trifle ashamed to realize how jealous he had been of that presumptuous young man who thought he could snatch away his Lilith from him. Maybe she'd come home sooner now. He dreamed of clasping her golden head to his breast, of listening to her voice singing in his church, or hearing her gay laughter about the house again. Lilith's pleasure year was a long one to her father.

"It distressed me to think she has ditched Roger," Irene went on. "It seems like a big mistake."

"Oh, don't worry over Lilith. She always lights on her feet." He could afford to be cheerful now that his darling was in a sense restored to him. "You women are never happy unless you are worrying about something."

"You know I'm not a chronic pessimist, Guinn!" she retorted. "Then don't begin to be one now."

He departed with light step to a pastoral call. A pleasurable surprise was a great invigorator. "I think Lil's ditched," snapped Rossiter.

"She isn't, either," sniffed Lundy. "She's the smartest one of our family. Her head's screwed on tight. Just you wait and see."

To Irene's anxious letter of inquiry came a brief note from Lilith. She had found out she didn't love Roger, and so she couldn't marry him. She would rather not discuss the matter.

"Let's consider the incident closed," said Guinn, as he folded the note.

It was so accepted. Irene watched the drama of Tina's love for Dan go on before her eyes. No one else seemed to be aware of it, because so many youngmen and girls drifted in and out of the house that one more or less could not be conspicuous.

The parsonage was like a social center for the youth of the community, with Irene as its head. She had watched and guided many a love affair, but now she only sat still. She couldn't take the responsibility of steering one way or the other. It was like seeing a play of engrossing interest go on before her as the only spectator.

... as mad King Ludwig of Bavaria had had operas performed for himself alone. She had the key to her child's heart, and with a sort of clairvoyance she read her emotions, but she couldn't see the end of it. How would it end?

Old Sheba understood, too, for her black face showed a look of jungle curiosity and cunning, mixed with devotion for her favorite, when Dan came to see Tina.

Burglars Force Way Into Senn and Cain Warehouse, East Front, Last Night

RAIN HELPS GETAWAY

250 Muskrat Hides, Six Weasel Hides Taken; Search Conducted Through State

Police departments throughout the state today maintained a lookout for burglars who last night forced their way into the Senn and Cain warehouse, East Front street, stealing 250 muskrat hides and six weasel hides valued at more than $500.

Entrance to the warehouse was gained from the rear where evidence today shows that a steel bar was used to pry the door open.

The robbers took all hides in sight, even several which were stretching on racks. They were aided by the presence of rain which washed away all tracks of a car in which they are believed to have made their escape.

The loot represents a great portion of the skins purchased by the company from trappers in the recent open season from March 1 to March 10.

Francis A. Flood to Address Farmers and Wives Following Free Dinner

AT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Will Describe Trip Through Sahara Desert on Motorcycle, Also Farm Conditions

Residents of this community will have an opportunity March 26, at 1 P. M. to hear and see Francis A. Flood, world traveler and travel editor of The Farmer, agricultural paper published in St. Paul, who will visit Brainerd on a week's lecture tour of Minnesota. Mr. Flood will be accompanied by Dan A. Wallace, directing editor of The Farmer, who will introduce Mr. Flood.

The lecture will be held at the Chamber of Commerce after a free dinner given by the Chamber of Commerce, starting promptly at 1 o'clock. Brainerd is one of the nine places in Minnesota at which Mr. Flood will speak during his week's tour, and was chosen from among more than 50 invitations from various communities.

Probably no traveler ever came to Minnesota to lecture with as large a following as Mr. Flood. Just recently he and a companion returned from a year's trip around the world which included a trip across the Sahara desert on motorcycles, the only time that the feat has been attempted. In his lecture at Brainerd he will tell of his experiences and what he saw on this trip. He will also show on the screen over a hundred pictures on modes of living and farming in Africa.

Prior to his trip around the world Mr. Flood visited every state in the Union as well as Mexico, Alaska, western Canada, and a number of European countries, including England, Denmark, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and France.

About his recent tour or world travels he says: "My partner, Jim Wilson and I, started out August 1, 1927, on our year of romancing around the world. We hitch-hiked from Lincoln, Neb., to New York, caught a freight boat to the west coast of Africa, bought two motorcycles in Lagos, Nigeria, West Africa and drove them clear across the continent to the Red Sea.

"For 600 miles in the southern edge of the Sahara desert we were the only ones on wheels that had even been in the country. We fought our way through 900 miles or so of intense jungle, then traversed two or three thousand miles of the Sahara and then proceeded to the Nile Valley and the mountains of the Red Sea.

"On the east coast we sold our motorcycles and caught the first boat out which happened to go to India. We crossed India and then went to Burma. We walked 100 miles or so through the jungle and then floated 150 miles on a bamboo raft down through the 'Chang' country in Siam. Then we got a freight boat to Hong Kong, finally returning home via Honolulu.

The local arrangements for the lecture at Brainerd are being made by County Agent E. G. Roth and the Crow Wing County Farm Bureau.

The dinner served free to the farmers by the Chamber of Commerce will be under the direction of the House and Social committee headed by Frank Hall. It will start at 11:30 and must be completed by 1 sharp.

Farmers and their wives are particularly invited to attend this dinner and lecture.

Peace Abiding Township Gives Office to Mrs. Klos Schon Over Male Candidate

Mrs. Schon Will Try and Maintain Peace and Dignity of Office; no Arrest in Year

A law abiding township where not a single arrest had been made in the past year yesterday placed into office a woman constable to uphold the dignity of the law for the next two years.

That township, Oak Lawn, Crow Wing county comes into national prominence today as citizens upheld the rights of the feminine sex by voting in Mrs. Klos Schon, farmette, over Frank Miller with power to make arrests and see that the peace and dignity of the township continues as in the past.

Mrs. Schon started today to consider the duties before her.

"What will be the policy of your regime?" Mrs. Schon was questioned this morning by a Dispatch reporter. "Well, I haven't given it much thought yet, you know we have a nice community here so there should be very little work connected with it. You know I was voted in as a candidate at a meeting when I was absent," Mrs. Schon replied.

Mrs. Schon stated that she has had no experience with the law but that she has been married 29 years. She weighs 140 pounds is 62 years old and stands 5 feet four inches. It is her first public office.

Burglars Force Way Into Senn and Cain Warehouse, East Front, Last Night

RAIN HELPS GETAWAY

250 Muskrat Hides, Six Weasel Hides Taken; Search Conducted Through State

Police departments throughout the state today maintained a lookout for burglars who last night forced their way into the Senn and Cain warehouse, East Front street, stealing 250 muskrat hides and six weasel hides valued at more than $500.

Entrance to the warehouse was gained from the rear where evidence today shows that a steel bar was used to pry the door open.

The robbers took all hides in sight, even several which were stretching on racks. They were aided by the presence of rain which washed away all tracks of a car in which they are believed to have made their escape.

The loot represents a great portion of the skins purchased by the company from trappers in the recent open season from March 1 to March 10.

Mrs. Schon Will Try and Maintain Peace and Dignity of Office; no Arrest in Year

A law abiding township where not a single arrest had been made in the past year yesterday placed into office a woman constable to uphold the dignity of the law for the next two years.

That township, Oak Lawn, Crow Wing county comes into national prominence today as citizens upheld the rights of the feminine sex by voting in Mrs. Klos Schon, farm-ore, over Frank Miller with power to make arrests and see that the peace and dignity of the township continues as in the past.

Mrs. Schon started today to continue the duties before her.

"What will be the policy of your

regime?" Mrs. Schon was questioned this morning by a Dispatch reporter. "Well, I haven't given it much thought yet, you know we have a nice community here so there should be very little work connected with it. You know I was voted in as a candidate at a meeting when I was absent," Mrs. Schon replied. Mrs. Schon stated that she has had no experience with the law but that she has been married 29 years. She weighs 140 pounds is 52 years old and stands 5 feet four inches. It is her first public office.

NORWEGIAN SURPRISES FIGHT FANS

IN 10TH ROUND HIS SMASH TO HEENEY'S MOUTH SPLIT LATTER'S CHIN

By BERT DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, March 13. — Dormant boxing ability, which was not shown until last night, today enabled Otto Von Porat, young Norwegian, to project himself into the group of leading heavyweight fighters, who have hopes of assuming the title, which the retirement of Gene Tunney left vacant.

Von Porat, heretofore regarded as a man who possessed a hard right swing and little else, surprised 11,000 people last night by outpointing Tom Heene, New Zealand, whose claim to heavyweight recognition has rested on his boxing ability.

The Norwegian exhibited a left hand jab which held Heene at bay and he combined the left with a right cross which rocked the New Zealand.

Possessing an enormous reach, Von Porat demonstrated that he finally has learned how to use this natural advantage to keep opponents at long range.

Von Porat led most of the way. He climaxed his efforts in the tenth round by crossing a right to Heene's mouth which literally split the New Zealand's chin wide open.

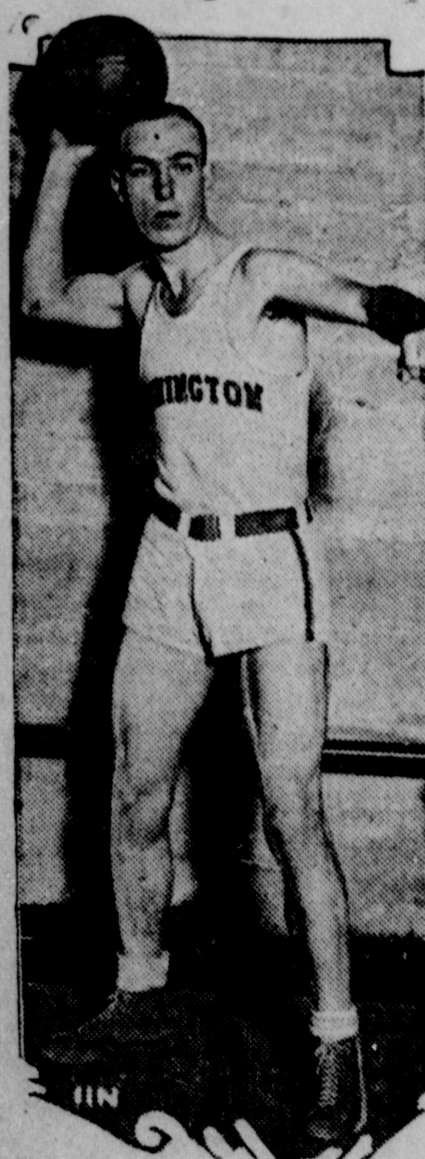

Von Porat, despite several openings, did not hit at Heene's head during the final minute of the round. Asked why, he said:

"I knew I had the fight won. pugilism is pugilism but there's no reason why a guy should be inhumane."

Heene will leave immediately for New York where he expects to "get into shape to be heard from as a real title contender."

It was the second decision which Heene has lost in two weeks. Jim Maloney took the other in Boston a few days ago.

Leading Scorer

Here is Ed "Moose" Meyer, premier scorer of the Missouri Valley Conference basketball race. Meyer, who plays center for Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., has scored a total of 219 points in 17 games and leads all players in the Midwest in individual scoring.

PAPER MADE FROM CORNSTALK PULP AT WATAB MILLS

Sartell, Minn., March 13.—(UP)—Paper was made from cornstalk pulp for the first time in the history of Minnesota today when newsprint was run off at the Watab mills in a "highly successful" experiment.

"I consider the experiment highly successful," C. H. Phipps, one of the paper experts, said. "The cornstalk paper is cleaner, more flexible, and is equal in tearing and tensile strength to the regular wood newsprint."

Among the score of witnesses who saw the cornstalk pulp produced at Danville, Ill., used in the 100 ton experiment run were: Dr. H. H. Brown, paper expert of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce; Walter M. Ringer, Minneapolis banker; Frank Leslie, Minneapolis paper manufacturer; Raymond Dat. Queensland, Australia, who is in America investigating the pulp; T. Q. Hulbert and Earl Harding of Danville.

Fierce Animal Combats

Ram fighting and buffalo fighting is extensively practiced in some parts of India. The shock of two rams meeting in full charge is terrific and there is small doubt that the idea of the ancient battering ram was derived from witnessing these combats.

JACK DEMPSEY CONSIDERS OFFERS FOR HIS SERVICES

New York, March 13. (U.P.)—Jack Dempsey had under consideration today offers from Madison Square Garden corporation and Humbert Fugazy for his future services.

Dempsey admitted that Fugazy's offer was "most attractive," but added that it was not acceptable as it stood. The former heavyweight champion will confer with Fugazy again Monday.

Meanwhile, Jack was considering a flying trip to Detroit to learn the best offer of a group of Michigan capitalists headed by Governor Green.

"Whoever makes me the best offer can have me," Dempsey said. Dempsey said that the amount of money involved in Fugazy's offer was "several times" that offered by Madison Square Garden.

PAPER MADE FROM CORNSTALK PULP AT WATAB MILLS

Sartell, Minn., March 13. — (UP)—Paper was made from cornstalk pulp for the first time in the history of Minnesota today when newsprint was run off at the Watab mills in a "highly successful" experiment.

"I consider the experiment highly successful," C. H. Phipps, one of the paper experts, said. "The cornstalk paper is cleaner, more flexible, and is equal in tearing and tensile strength to the regular wood newsprint."

Among the score of witnesses who saw the cornstalk pulp produced at Danville, Ill., used in the 100 ton experiment run were: Dr. H. H. Brown, paper expert of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce; Walter M. Ringer, Minneapolis banker; Frank Leslie, Minneapolis paper manufacturer; Raymond Dat, Queensland, Australia, who is in America investigating the pulp; T. Q. Hulbert and Earl Harding of Danville.

Fierce Animal Combats

Ram fighting and buffalo fighting is extensively practiced in some parts of India. The shock of two rams meeting in full charge is terrific and there is small doubt that the idea of the ancient battering ram was derived from witnessing these combats.

Still Using Old One

Kansas City high school students presented Vice-President Curtis with a flock of gavel, more than any one man could ever hope to wear out. Florence Hasson, at Washington, D. C., is showing you just a few of them. The vice-president, however, prefers to use the old one which he is used to.
